WASHINGTON, July 5.—The proposed cloture movement in the Senate to end the tariff debate was discussed at a dinner conference held to-night at the home of Senator Lodge and attended by many leading Republicans in the Senate. It was said to-day that the soldier bonus would be considered at the dinner, but it was learned to-night that this had not entered into the discussions, which, it was said, were confined to the cloture and plans which might be adopted in case it failed to receive a two-thirds vote in the Senate.

No indication was given, however, of any decision being reached as to a course to be followed in the event the two-thirds vote was not obtained. Some of those attending the conference said that noses had been counted in the Senate and predicted the vote

When the workers sent a committee to the castle with the demand that the objectionable flag be taken down the men were met at the gate with a volley of shots. As the crowd retreated from the castle more shots were fired. A young boy was killed and several were wounded. Later, when a group of workers passed the castle, hand grenades were hurled among them. nades were hurled among them Police Guard Castle

The police threw a cordon around the castle and persuaded the attacking party to leave. This morning, however, news of the defiant attitude of the monarchists spread over the country-side and a tremendous mob gathered, many of them armed. The crowd grew to such proportions that the police, who were not hostile to them, were soon overwhelmed and disarmed.

Seven Stills- in One Building
At 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning a 10-gallon still exploded in the cellar of a warehouse at 258 Forty-second Street, Brooklyn, with a detonation that shook the block. The warehouse is in an Italian neighborhood, and believing that a bomb had been planted, it he neighbors fed their homes in their right clothes. A large and excited crowd congregated.

The explosion of the still served to treveal that seven 10-gallon stills were in operation in the building and that it was by far the biggest plant yet uncovered. Police say it supplied a large booting traffic in Brooklyn and environs.

Whoever was operating the still fed at the time of the explosion and no one was found on the premises. The police swore out John Doe warrants and seized a large quantity of empty barrels, full barrels, machinery and mash.

Approach to Insolvency

In the case of Germany the decline of the mark to four for a cent, instead of the normal parity of four for a dollar, reflects an aproach to insolvency. Official acknowledgement of the condition might be expressed in a stoppage of interest on the internal debt, which is now being paid through the free and unlimited printing of marks. Another manifestation of insolvency might conceivably be repudiation of marks. Germany's principal external debt consists of her reparations obligations to the Allies.

A banker in close touch with the terman government expressed the opinion that Germany would meet its July 15 obligations, saying that she has already some foreign exchange ready for
